

LEGISLATIVE DECREE No 1384

LEGISLATIVE DECREE THAT RECOGNIZES AND REGULATES THE LEGAL CAPACITY OF PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES ON EQUAL BASIS

Commentary¹:

On 4 September 2018, the Peruvian Government published Legislative Decree No. 1384 that recognizes and regulates the legal capacity of persons with disabilities. The reform was adopted by the Executive following the delegation of legislative powers granted by the Congress via Law No. 30823.

The legislative decree adopted, which holds the same status of a law, reforms the Civil Code, the Civil Procedural Code and the Notary Act. It recognizes the full legal capacity of all persons with disabilities, abolishes guardianship for persons with disabilities, removes restrictions on their legal capacity (e.g. to marry or to make a will), and introduces different regimes for supported decision-making. Legislative Decree No. 1384 also recognized the right to reasonable and procedural accommodation in courts and notary offices.

Restrictions to legal capacity remain for persons with addictions ("the habitual drunkards" and "the drug addicts"), "bad administrators", "prodigals", people criminally convicted, and people in a coma who do not have a designated support (although in this last case, the judge will explore support measures). This was a setback for civil society but historically those forms of guardianship (now curatorship) have had little use for a number of reasons: persons with addictions are not usually put under guardianship because mental health legislation permits their involuntary treatment; and to be declared a "bad administrator" or a "prodigal" (archaic legal provisions) a person has to "squander" more than half of their assets or significantly affect their future heirs.

As a result, articles 43 and 44 of the Civil Code, which regulate the capacity to act of persons, have been reformed according to the following terms:

Article 43.- Absolute incapacity

The following are absolutely incapable:

- 1.- Those under sixteen years of age, except for those acts determined by law.

Article 44.- Restricted capacity to act

The following have restricted capacity to act:

- 1.- Those over sixteen and under eighteen years of age.
- 4.- Prodigals.

¹ The Legislative Decree 1384 has been translated into english by SODIS - Sociedad y Discapacidad (Disability and Society). SODIS is an organization that promotes and advocates for the rights of persons with disabilities in Perú. It has been actively involved in the law reform process as one of the key stakeholders.

- 5.- Those who commit bad administration.
- 6.- Habitual drunkards.
- 7.- Drug addicts.
- 8.- Those who suffer penalties that include civil interdiction.
- 9.- Persons who are in a coma, as long as they have not previously designated a support.

The Peruvian law reform process on legal capacity started in 2008 when civil society drafted and submitted a citizen's initiative for a new General Law on Persons with Disabilities. While the resulting 2012 General Law on Persons with Disabilities, Law No. 29973, recognized the legal capacity of persons with disabilities, it could not be implemented without amending the Civil Code. Therefore, Law No. 29973 foresaw the creation of a Special Committee for the reform of the Civil Code within the Congress, which produced a draft bill. Although the bill was not adopted, it served as the basis for a multi-party bill drafted by civil society and filed in 2016, which has been the main input for the present Executive's legislative decree.

"CHAPTER FOURSupports and safeguards*Article 659-A.- Access to supports and safeguards

A person of legal age can freely and voluntarily access the supports and safeguards that they consider appropriate to contribute to their capacity to act.

Article 659-B.- Definition of supports

Supports are forms of assistance freely chosen by a person of legal age to facilitate the exercise of their rights, including support in communication, in the understanding of legal acts and their consequences, and the expression and interpretation of the will of the one who requires the support.

The support has no powers of representation except in cases where this is expressly established by decision of the person in need of support or by the judge in the case of Article 659-E.

When the support requires interpreting the will of the person who is being assisted, the criterion of the best interpretation of the will applies, taking into account the life trajectory of the person, previous expressions of will in similar contexts, the information provided by trusted people of the assisted person, the consideration of their preferences and any other consideration relevant to the specific case.

Article 659-C.- Determination of supports

The person requesting the supports determines their form, identity, scope, duration and number of supports. The support can fall on one or more natural persons, public institutions or non-profit legal entities, specialized both in the matter and duly registered.

Article 659-D.- Designation of supports

The person of legal age who requires support for the exercise of their legal capacity can appoint their support before a notary or a competent judge.

Article 659-E.- Exception to the designation of the supports by a judge

Exceptionally, the judge can determine the necessary support for persons with disabilities who cannot express their will and for those with restricted capacity to act, according to provision 9 of article 44. This measure is justified after having made real, considerable and pertinent efforts to obtain an expression of will from the person, and having provided them with measures of accessibility and reasonable accommodations, and when the designation of supports is necessary for the exercise and protection of their rights.

The judge determines the support person or persons taking into account the relationship of cohabitation, trust, friendship, care or kinship that exists between them and the person that requires support. It also sets the term, scope and responsibilities of the support. In all cases, the judge must carry out the pertinent steps to obtain the best possible interpretation of the will and preferences of the person, and considering their life trajectory. Persons convicted of family violence or persons convicted of sexual violence cannot be designated as supporters.

The judicial procedure for determining support exceptionally begins with any person with legal capacity.

Article 659 F.- Designation of supports for the future

Any person over 18 years of age can designate before a notary the necessary supporter or supporters in anticipation of requiring future assistance for the exercise of their legal capacity. Likewise, the person can decide which persons or institutions the designation should not fall upon, as well as the form, scope, duration and guidelines of the support to be received. The document must state the moment or circumstances in which the designation of future support becomes effective.

Article 659-G.- Safeguards for the adequate execution of supports

Safeguards are measures to guarantee respect for the rights, will and preferences of the person receiving support, prevent abuse and undue influence on the part of the person providing such support; as well as avoiding harm or putting at risk the rights of the persons assisted.

The person requesting the support or the intervening judge in the case of article 659-E establish the safeguards that they deem appropriate for the specific case, indicating at the very least the deadlines for the review of the supports.

The judge performs all the necessary hearings and proceedings to determine if the support person is acting in accordance with the mandate and the will and preferences of the person.

Article 659-H- Exemption from management guarantee

The person or persons providing support are exempt from the obligation to guarantee its management, except as provided in article 426. "
